Eliot Pages, North Campus Minister of Adult Education

- “The accepted maxim seems to be that as long as evil can be ignored, it should be; one should punish only as a last resort, and then only as far as necessary to prevent the evil from having to grievous social consequences. Willingness to tolerate an indulge evil up to the limit is seen as a virtue, while living by fixed principles of right and wrong is censured by some as doubtfully moral.” - J.I. Packer
- My prayer this week is that we, as individuals, families and a church, would no longer tolerate or ignore the evil in our own behavior, our kids, or our church family, and that we would root it out and deal with it as ruthlessly as possible in order to make ourselves as wholly and acceptable to Christ as humanly possibly with divine assistance. Pray that if you don't see anything that it would be revealed to you. We all have something we are ignoring and not paying attention to, but is clearly obvious to both God and most probably to those around us.
